To whom it may concern:

I am writing this letter of recommendation on behalf of Ms. Hyejeong Cheon who applied to your institution.

It is a great pleasure for me to recommend Ms. Cheon to your institution, for I am sure that she will certainly be a great candidate for your program. I served as Ms. Cheon's undergrad research advisor for more than 3 years. During the time, I was able to observe her diligence, curiosity and determination for research.

She always raised creative questions, and took leadership in many laboratory activities. She was in charge of cell electrochemistry projects in our lab, and she was the one who was able to setup the apparatus for the experiments which is still being used. However, her activeness was not limited to her lab activities. She was always actively engaged in her in-class projects, delivering outstanding presentations and research products.

During her team project classes, I was very impressed by her presentation skill, her literature review, and her confidence, but most of all, by the creativity that she brought forward to the whole class. Her goal was scientific and practical, covering a wide range of insights from engineering to biotechnology.

In summary, I am sure that Ms. Cheon would be one of the best additions to your program. I hope that you could take pleasure in her pleasant personality and her performance in the near future by accepting her to your institution. Finally, I would like to thank you for giving me this opportunity to recommend Ms. Cheon to you. Hope that everything is always prosperous for you and your institution.

With Best Regards,
